Jason Broadwater

Keynote Speaker & Author

Old Town New World: Main Street and More in the New Economy

Jason Broadwater speaks to the Legal Community about growth opportunities existing in today's most powerful medium, the Internet. Attorneys need an effective marketing tool as well as a proven method of communicating with their clients and prospective clients. The legal profession, with its specialized skill sets and unique brands, benefits greatly when incorporating Internet Marketing Strategies.

Jason brings clarity and solutions to today's most effective communications and marketing options. His passion for helping lawyers achieve greater success energizes his audience around specific themes:

- Branding for Legal Professionals
- Authentic & Effective Internet Marketing for Attorneys
- Client Engagement and the Internet for Law Firms
- Social Media in the Business of Law

"Jason captivates an audience. We had many small business owners say that no one has ever explained the Web and, in particular, how they can specifically use the Web for their businesses as clearly as Jason did. Very entertaining and very informative!"

Susan Brackett, Former Dean of Continuing Education,
York Technical College

"I recently had the opportunity to hear Jason speak at an Entrepreneur Network event and as a marketing coach, I was amazed at the amount of relevant, actionable content he provided during his short presentation. Quite often I'll hear speakers that only share a portion of their knowledge and expertise, holding the best stuff back for their paying clients. Not Jason. It was very apparent that he holds nothing back, shares every relevant secret, and is only concerned about providing as much education as he can cram into the allotted time. If you're looking for an entertaining, hold-nothing-back speaker, you'd be crazy not to give Jason the floor."
